Subject: FW: Aero is Arrow

FYI – Please note that Arrow Pipeline, who spilled the 1 million gals of brine in ND in July, is spelled “Arrow” not “Aero”. The AP corrected their story.

Arrow Water (also a subsidiary of Crestwood, like Arrow Pipeline) spilled 126,000 of brine on 8/22/14.

Never a dull moment.

Thanks for finding that article. Don’t change the name on the Polrep files. These are original documents and only the Arthur of the document (the OSC) can correct the spelling error.

Hi Donna,

I googled Aero and Arrow Pipeline, Arrow Water, etc. and found the attached article, which I posted on G in the Arrow Pipeline folder. In it, AP corrects their original story and states that the correct name is Arrow, not Aero, as originally reported.

I’ve changed the name of the folder on the G drive and will change the listing in the Excel table. Should I change the name of all the PolRep(s), etc. even though the filename will then be inconsistent with the name stated in the content (of ea. PolRep, etc.)?
